Terroir Creative Writing Festival

Celebrating a sense of place

Meet acclaimed Oregon writers

Ursula K. Le Guin, Molly Gloss, Larry Colton,
Carlos Reyes, Bill Siverly, Laura Whitcomb, Lex Runciman,
Barbara Drake, Ellie Gunn and book artist Marilyn Worrix

Share your passion for words and books

Readings, signings and book sales

Learn more about your craft

Lectures and workshops on fiction, poetry and memoir

Saturday, May 1, 2010 8 a.m. - 6:30 p.m.
McMinnville Community Center
600 N.E. Evans St.

The Terroir Creative Writing Festival brings Oregon writers together for a day of celebrating this special place, as well as the joys of writing and books.

Terroir (terr whah) refers to the site- and region-specific characteristics of a wine. Climate, soil and landscape determine the character of the grapes. Like the vines that line the hillsides of Yamhill County, our words take on the qualities of place, growing rich in the soils of life experiences.

Registration form available at www.artsallianceyamhillco.org and Third Street Books in McMinnville.

Pre-registration fee $25 (adults). Deadline: April 19
$15 (students, 7th grade and higher, and those 65+)
Registration at the door: $35

Find us on Facebook

Sponsored by the Arts Alliance of Yamhill County with funding from the Yamhill County Cultural Coalition.