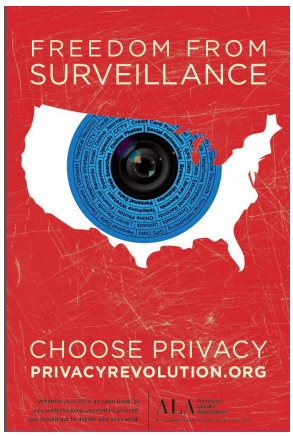
Rights, Responsibilities and Reactions

Multnomah County Library Intellectual Freedom News, March 2017

Privacy



The Senate just voted to undo landmark rules covering your Internet … Washington Post

Senate votes to let ISPs sell customer Web browsing history to advertisers Ars Technica

What the repeal of online privacy protections means for you New York Times

Why is everyone talking about VPNs? Lifehacker

Internet Privacy and You (podcast) On Point with Tom Ashbrook - WBUR

How libraries can respond to the repeal of the FCC privacy rules District Dispatch

How much do you know about internet privacy? Take this cybersecurity quiz. Pew Research Center

Now, read the full report: What the public knows about internet security. Pew Research Center

Crowdfunding campaigns raise money to buy the search histories of Congressional representatives who voted to repeal FCC privacy rules - but can they? Techdirt

VIZIO Sued for Secretly Collecting and Sharing Viewer Data Federal Trade Commission

Net Neutrality

Director of the ALA's OITP on the ALA's move to defend net neutrality District Dispatch

Banned Books

North Carolina school system pulls book about a boy in a dress New York Times

Arkansas Legislature attempts to ban books by Howard Zinn In response Zinn Education Project offers A People's History for the Classroom to any Arkansa teacher who requests them Zinn Education Project

Access

ALA urges action to increase Lifeline broadband options for low-income Americans District Dispatch

Pittsburgh libraries join initiative to protect data Pittsburgh Post-Gazette

Need a break? Try some surveillance stories and privacy parables.

Have any questions? Feel free to email the editors at lib.ifc@multco.us.