NEED FOR THE RULE(S)

These rules are necessary to implement the provisions of Chapter 20, Oregon Laws 2024 and to update related rules.

DOCUMENTS RELIED UPON, AND WHERE THEY ARE AVAILABLE

Chapter 20, Oregon Laws 2024 (Enrolled Senate Bill 1515) is available here:
<https://olis.oregonlegislature.gov/liz/2024R1/Measures/Overview/SB1515>

STATEMENT IDENTIFYING HOW ADOPTION OF RULE(S) WILL AFFECT RACIAL EQUITY IN THIS STATE

The purpose of these rule amendments is to provide clarity to Oregon businesses and Oregon workers on the application of the Oregon Family Leave Act and the laws relating to Sick Leave, in light of the adoption of chapter 20, Oregon Laws 2024. The amendments will support racial equity by providing as much clarity and simplicity as possible, to make the rules accessible to a diverse set of individuals and businesses. Whenever possible, the rules have been formulated with the intention to embed fairness and transparency into the process, thereby supporting racial equity. To the extent that the underlying statutes support racial equity, these rules will have a corresponding effect.

FISCAL AND ECONOMIC IMPACT:

Nearly all of the provisions in these rules are required by or otherwise implement recent legislation. The resulting fiscal impact likely includes costs associated with updating employee forms and policies, and, in specified circumstances, providing employees with information related to their leave requests.

COST OF COMPLIANCE:

(1) Identify any state agencies, units of local government, and members of the public likely to be economically affected by the rule(s). (2) Effect on Small Businesses: (a) Estimate the number and type of small businesses subject to the rule(s); (b) Describe the expected reporting, recordkeeping and administrative activities and cost required to comply with the rule(s); (c) Estimate the cost of professional services, equipment supplies, labor and increased administration required to comply with the rule(s).

All state agencies and units of local government, and private employers who meet the definition of "employer" in ORS 659A.153 or ORS 653.601 are subject to the Oregon Family Leave Act and state law relating to Sick Leave. Correspondingly, individuals who meet the definition of an employee in ORS 659A.156 or ORS 653.601 may exercise the rights provided for in these rules. For private sector entities, the definition of "employer" for the OFLA-related rules is limited to those that employ 25 or more persons in the State of Oregon for each working day during each of 20 or more calendar workweeks, while the applicable definition of "small business" under the Administrative Procedures Act is limited to entities that employ 50 or fewer employees. Thus, the small businesses to which the OFLA-related rules apply are limited to those employing between 25 and 50 employees. According to the Oregon Employment Department (OED), there are nearly 165,000 small businesses in Oregon with at least one payroll employee, though nearly 92% of those small businesses have fewer than 20 employees. Based on the OED data, the Bureau estimates that there are fewer than 8,000 Oregon businesses with more than 25 employees, but fewer than 50, to which the OFLA-related changes will apply. All 165,000 small businesses with at least one payroll employee will be affected by the sick leave-related changes to the rules. As indicated above, these rule amendments largely operate to implement recent legislation, while clarifying existing law. Employers subject to the above-described thresholds must currently engage in reporting, recordkeeping and administrative activities to comply with OFLA, Sick Leave and other employment-related laws, including Paid Leave Oregon. Similarly, except for the above-referenced updating of forms and policies and eligibility for additional leave, the Bureau does not anticipate additional costs of professional services, equipment supplies, labor and increased administration necessary to comply with these rule amendments.

DESCRIBE HOW SMALL BUSINESSES WERE INVOLVED IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THESE RULE(S):

Small businesses, as well as all members of the public, are invited to comment on these rules. In addition, the Bureau will post notice of this rulemaking on its webpage and in the Oregon bulletin, while also disseminating this notice to the Bureau's mailing list.

WAS AN ADMINISTRATIVE RULE ADVISORY COMMITTEE CONSULTED? NO IF NOT, WHY NOT?

Chapter 20, Oregon Laws 2024 became effective on March 20, 2024, and many of its provisions become operative on July 1, 2024. As indicated above, the OFLA-related rules apply to nearly 8,000 employers and at least 200,000 employees. Given the breadth of impacts included in chapter 20, Oregon Laws 2024, the resources available to the Bureau and the need to timely adopt rules in advance of July 1, 2024, it is likely that providing this notice to business organizations, labor organizations and the public at large, will efficiently surface feedback from the persons and communities likely to be affected by the rule.

Verification and Certification for Sick Time Use ¶

(2) "Three consecutive scheduled workdays" means three consecutive scheduled workdays, not including scheduled days off. For example, if an employee is scheduled to work Monday, Wednesday, and Friday only, and the employee uses sick time for all three days, the employee has used sick time for three consecutive scheduled workdays.¶

(3) If an employee commences sick time without providing prior notice required by the employer under OAR 839-007-0040:¶

(a) Medical verification shall be provided to the employer within 15 calendar days after the employer requests the verification; or¶

(5) An employer must pay any reasonable costs for providing any medical verification or certification required, including lost wages, that are not paid under a health benefit plan in which the employee is enrolled.¶

(8) If an employee fails to provide verification or certification as required by ORS 653.626 and these rules, the employer is not required to pay for the use of sick time for the absence taken until the employee provides verification or certification verifying that the absence was for a qualifying reason as defined by ORS 653.616 and these rules. The employer may discipline the employee for violating policies and procedures but not for using sick time.¶

(9) If an employer reasonably suspects that an employee is abusing sick time, including engaging in a pattern of abuse, the employer may require verification from a health care provider of the need of the employee to use sick time, regardless of whether the employee has used sick time for more than three consecutive days. (10) When an employee uses sick time to care for a ~~family member who is related by affinity~~ individual related by blood or affinity whose close association with the eligible employee is the equivalent of a family relationship, the employer may require the employee to attest in writing that the employee and the person cared for have a significant personal bond that, when examined under the totality of the circumstances, is like a family relationship. An employer that requires a written attestation must provide an attestation form to the employee. The form need not be notarized, must be in the language typically used by the employer to communicate with the employee and may include the following provisions:¶

I, (full name) _____, share a significant bond with (name of other person) _____ and they are like a family member to me.¶

Any facts about your relationship can make it like a family. Common examples include:¶

- (B) Emergency contact designation of the employee by the other individual in the relationship or the emergency contact designation of the other individual in the relationship by the employee;¶¶
- (C) The expectation to provide care because of the relationship or the prior provision of care;¶¶
- (D) Cohabitation and its duration and purpose;¶¶
- (E) Geographic proximity; and¶¶

(7)(a) "Eligible employee" means an employee described in ORS 659A.156 who is employed in the State of Oregon on the date OFLA leave begins.¶¶

(b) To determine the number of days an employee has worked, the employer must count the number of days an employee is maintained on the payroll, including all time paid or unpaid. If an employee continues to be employed by a successor in interest to the original employer, the number of days worked are counted as continuous employment by a single employer.¶¶

U.S. Department of Labor regulation 20 CFR §1002.210 provides that in determining entitlement to seniority and seniority-based rights and benefits, the period of absence from employment due to or necessitated by uniformed service is not considered a break in employment. The rights and benefits protected by USERRA upon reemployment include those provided by the employer and those required by statute. In the event that a service member is denied OFLA leave for failing to satisfy the OFLA days and hours of work requirement due to absence from employment necessitated by uniformed service, the service member may have a cause of action under USERRA but not under OFLA.¶

NOTE: USERRA also applies to leave under the federal Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, 29 USC §2601-2654 (FMLA).¶

(B) ORS 659A.082-659A.088 provides that an employee reemployed following a period of uniformed service is entitled to the seniority and seniority-based rights and benefits that the employee had on the date the uniformed service began, plus any seniority and seniority-based rights and benefits that the employee would have attained if the employee had remained continuously employed. In determining entitlement to seniority and seniority-based rights and benefits, the period of absence from employment due to or necessitated by uniformed service is not considered a break in employment. If a reemployed service member was eligible for leave under OFLA prior to the date uniformed service began, OFLA's eligibility requirements are considered met.¶

(b) When OFLA leave is not covered by FMLA (e.g., the employer has 25 to 49 employees, the leave is taken for a sick child, for the serious health condition of a parent-in-law, for the serious health condition of a registered domestic partner or for the serious health condition of a registered domestic partner's parents or for the death of a family member), and the employee takes intermittent leave in blocks of less than one day, an employer will jeopardize the employee's exempt status if the employer reduces the employee's salary for the part-day absence. ¶

(15) The requirements of OFLA do not apply to any employer offering eligible employees a nondiscriminatory cafeteria plan, as defined by section 125 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, that provides as one of its options employee leave at least as generous as the leave required by OFLA. ¶

(16, and the employee takes intermittent leave in blocks of less than one day, an employer will jeopardize the employee's exempt status if the employer reduces the employee's salary for the part-day absence. ¶

(12) ORS 659A.150 to 659A.186 and these rules do not limit any right of an employee to any leave that is similar to the leave described in 659A.159(1) and OAR 839-009-0230 and to which the employee may be entitled under any agreement between the employer and the employee, collective bargaining agreement or employer policy. ¶

(173) When an eligible employee takes bereavement leave under ORS 659A.150 to 659A.186 to care for, or to deal with the death of, a family member who is related by affinity, an individual related by blood or affinity whose close association with the eligible employee is the equivalent of a family relationship, the employer may require the employee to attest in writing that the employee and the other person have a significant personal bond that, when examined under the totality of the circumstances, is like a family relationship. An employer that requires a written attestation must provide an attestation form to the employee. The form need not be notarized, must be in the language typically used by the employer to communicate with the employee and may include the following provisions: ¶

I, (full name) _____, share a significant bond with (name of other person) _____ and they are like a family member to me. ¶

Any facts about your relationship can make it like a family. Common examples include: ¶

(A) Shared personal financial responsibility, including shared leases, common ownership of real or personal property, joint liability for bills or beneficiary designations; ¶

(B) Emergency contact designation of the employee by the other individual in the relationship or the emergency contact designation of the other individual in the relationship by the employee; ¶

(C) The expectation to provide care because of the relationship or the prior provision of care; ¶

(D) Cohabitation and its duration and purpose; ¶

(E) Geographic proximity; and ¶

(F) Other factors that demonstrate the existence of a family-like relationship.

OFLA: Intermittent Leave and Alternate Duty ¶¶

- (1) An employer may transfer an employee on intermittent OFLA leave or a reduced work schedule into an alternate position with the same or different duties to accommodate the leave, provided the following exist:¶¶
- (a) The employee accepts the transfer position voluntarily and without coercion;¶¶
- (b) The transfer is temporary, lasts no longer than necessary to accommodate the leave and has equivalent pay and benefits;¶¶
- (c) The transfer is compliant with applicable collective bargaining agreements, as well as with state and federal law, providing including ORS 659A.146 and 659A.147 and all the employee protections found in FMLA regulations 29 CFR Part 825;¶¶
- (d) Transfer to an alternate position is used only when there is no other reasonable option available that would allow the employee to use intermittent leave or reduced work schedule; and¶¶
- (e) The transfer is not used to discourage the employee from taking intermittent or reduced work schedule leave, or to create a hardship for the employee.¶¶
- (2) An employee transferred, as provided in section (1)(a) through (e) of this rule, to an alternate position for the purpose of a reduced work schedule must be returned to the employee's former position when the employee notifies the employer that the employee is ready to return to the former position at the end of the alternate duty leave.¶¶
- (3) OFLA leave time for an employee on intermittent leave or a reduced work schedule is the difference between the number of hours the employee normally works and the number of hours the employee actually works during the intermittent leave or reduced work schedule. When it is physically impossible for an employee using intermittent leave or working a reduced leave schedule to commence or end work during a shift, ~~such as when a flight attendant or a railroad conductor is scheduled to work aboard an airplane or train, or a laboratory employee is unable to enter or leave a sealed "clean room" during a certain period of time,~~ the entire period of work from which the employee is forced to be ~~absent~~ is designated as OFLA leave and counts against the employee's OFLA entitlement.¶¶
- (4) ~~Holidays or d~~Days in which the employer's business is not in operation are not counted toward intermittent or reduced work schedule OFLA leave.¶¶
- (5) An employer may transfer an employee ~~recovering from a serious health condition~~ to an alternate position that accommodates ~~the serious health condition~~ OFLA pregnancy disability leave provided:¶¶
- (a) The employee accepts the position voluntarily and without coercion;¶¶
- (b) The transfer is temporary, lasts no longer than necessary and has equivalent pay and benefits;¶¶
- (c) The transfer is compliant with applicable collective bargaining agreements, as well as with state and federal law, providing including ORS 659A.146 and 659A.147 and all the employee protections found in FMLA regulations 29 CFR Part 825; and¶¶
- (d) The transfer is not used to discourage the employee from taking OFLA leave ~~for a serious health condition~~, or to create a hardship for the employee.¶¶
- (6) An employee is not on OFLA leave if the employee has been transferred - as provided in section (5)(a) through ~~(d)~~ of this rule - to an alternate position for the purpose of alternate work duties that the employee is able to perform within the limitations of the employee's ~~own serious health condition~~ pregnancy disability, but not requiring a reduced work week. An employee working in an alternate position retains the right to return to the employee's original position ~~unless all OFLA leave taken in that leave year plus the period of time worked in the alternate position exceed 12 weeks.~~¶¶
- ~~(7) An alternate position accommodating an employee's serious health cond~~at any time during the employee's OFLA leave. This section (6) does not impair the right of an employee to a reasonable accommodation or the application of any other state or federal law.¶¶
- (7) An alternate position may result in the employee working fewer hours than the employee worked in the original position. The employee's OFLA leave is the difference between the number of hours the employee worked in the original position and the number of hours the employee actually works in the alternate position.¶¶

OFLA: Notice by Employee; Designation by Employer; Notice by Employer Regarding Eligibility or Qualification ¶

(1) Except as otherwise described in this rule, a covered employer may require an eligible employee to give 30 days' written notice of the need for foreseeable leave, including an explanation of the need for leave, before starting ~~OFLA~~child placement leave or sick child leave. The employee is not required to specify that the request is for OFLA leave.¶

(2) When an employee is unable to give the employer 30 days' notice of the need for child placement leave or sick child leave but has some advance notice of the need for the leave, the employee must give the employer as much advance notice as is practicable.¶

(3) An employee able to give advance notice of the need to take ~~OFLA~~child placement leave or sick child leave must follow the employer's known, reasonable and customary procedures for requesting any kind of leave, absent unusual circumstances.¶

(4) When taking OFLA leave in an unforeseeable situation, an employee must give ~~verbal~~verbal or written notice within 24 hours before or after commencement of the leave. This notice may be given by any other person on behalf of an employee taking unforeseeable OFLA leave. The employer may require written notice by the employee within three days of the employee's return to work.¶

(5)(a) Except as otherwise provided in OAR 839-009-0260 and subsection ~~(d)~~ of this section, an employer may request additional information to determine that a requested leave qualifies for designation as OFLA leave.¶

(b) The employer may provisionally designate an absence as OFLA leave until sufficient information is received to make a determination. ~~A covered employer who receives written notice from the Oregon Employment Department, or other verbal or written notice, that an eligible employee has applied for Paid Leave under ORS chapter 657B, has received sufficient notice to provisionally designate an absence as OFLA leave until sufficient information is received to make a determination; provided, however, that if the absence is determined to be other than OFLA leave, the eligible employee's leave entitlement will be restored.~~ An employee who calls in "sick" without providing further information will not be considered to have provided sufficient notice to trigger an employer's obligations under OFLA, unless the employer has reason to know the employee is attempting to invoke protected leave or the employer acquires knowledge that an employee's leave may be for an OFLA-qualifying reason.¶

(c) An employee on OFLA leave who needs to take more leave than originally authorized must give the employer reasonable notice prior to the end of the authorized leave, following the employer's known, reasonable and customary procedures for requesting any kind of leave. However, when an authorized period of OFLA leave has ended and an employee does not return to work, an employer having reason to believe the continuing absence may qualify as OFLA leave must request additional information, and may not treat a continuing absence as unauthorized unless requested information is not provided or does not support OFLA qualification.¶

~~(d) An eligible employee may receive notice of the death of a family member by any means and from any source. (e) An employer may not request additional information to verify bereave for the death of a family memberment leave, except the employer may require the use of an attestation form described in OAR 839-011-0240 when the family member is related by affinity.¶~~

(6) When an employee fails to give notice of foreseeable leave as required by sections (1) and (2), and (3):¶

(a) If the leave qualifies under OFLA only and not under FMLA, the employer may reduce the total period of unused OFLA leave by an amount no greater than the number of days of leave the employee has taken without providing timely notice of leave. This reduction of leave may not exceed three weeks in a one-year leave period; and the employer may subject the employee to disciplinary action under a uniformly applied policy or practice of the employer.¶

(b) If the leave qualifies under FMLA only, FMLA regulations apply: ~~29 CFR § 825.302 (Employee Notice Requirements for Foreseeable FMLA Leave) and 29 CFR § 825.304 (Employee Failure to Provide Notice). FMLA regulation 29 CFR § 825.304 provides that an employer may delay coverage until up to 30 days after notice was received and the employer may take appropriate action under its internal rules and procedures for failure to follow its usual and customary notification rules, as long as the actions are taken in a manner that does not discriminate against employees taking FMLA leave.¶~~

~~(c) If the leave qualifies under both OFLA and FMLA the employer may:¶~~

~~(c) If the leave qualifies under both OFLA and FMLA the employer may:¶~~

(A) Delay FMLA coverage until up to 30 days after notice was received as permitted by the FMLA regulations at

29 CFR §825.304 (this applies only to leave to which the employee is entitled under FMLA);¶

(B) Reduce the total period of unused OFLA leave by an amount no greater than the number of days of leave the employee has taken without providing timely notice of leave. This reduction of leave may not exceed three weeks in a one-year leave period (~~see ORS 659A.165~~). This applies only to leave to which the employee is entitled under OFLA; and¶

(C) In addition to actions permitted under (A) and (B), the employer may also take appropriate action under its internal rules and procedures for failure to follow its usual and customary notification rules, absent unusual circumstances, as long as the actions are taken in a manner that does not discriminate against employees taking OFLA or FMLA leave.¶

(d) A reduction of OFLA leave under (6)(a) or (6)(c) ~~(B)~~ of this rule may not limit OFLA leave under ORS 659A.159(1)(e) and OAR 839-009-0230(5) for the death of a family member ment leave.¶

(7) An employer may not reduce an employee's available OFLA leave or take disciplinary action under (6)(a) or (c) of this rule unless the employer has posted the required Bureau of Labor and Industries Family Leave Act notice or the employer can otherwise establish that the employee had actual knowledge of the notice requirement.¶

(8) If the qualifying purpose for which an eligible employee takes paid leave under ORS chapter 657B also constitutes a purpose for which OFLA can be taken, a covered employer may reduce the total period of leave described in 657B.020(2) and (3) by the number of days of paid leave taken.¶

(9) When an employer is authorized by law to request additional information, other than information that constitutes medical verification, to verify whether leave is OFLA qualifying, the employer may provide the employee with a written request for information. The written request must be provided within five business days of the date on which the employee requests OFLA leave, or on which the employer acquires knowledge that an employee's leave may be for an OFLA qualifying reason. Within five business days of receiving the requested information, the employer must notify the employee whether or not the employee is eligible and qualifies to take OFLA leave absent extenuating circumstances. All OFLA absences for the same qualifying reason are considered a single leave event and employee qualification as to that reason for leave does not change during the applicable 12-month period unless the reason is no longer qualifying. If an employer determines that an employee does not qualify for OFLA leave for the reason requested, the employer must notify the employee in writing that the employee does not qualify.¶

(a) The written notice that the employee does not qualify must state that the employee is ineligible or the reason for requested leave does not qualify for OFLA leave and at least one reason why the employee is not eligible or the reason does not qualify for leave. An employee who has refused a suitable offer of light duty or modified employment under ORS 659A.043 or 659A.046 and who otherwise is entitled to OFLA pregnancy disability leave under OFLA:¶

(b) If an employer determines that an employee does not qualify for OFLA leave for the reason requested because a medical verification is incomplete or insufficient, the written notice that the employee does not qualify must state what additional information is required to make the verification complete or sufficient, and the employee must be afforded a reasonable period of time to correct the deficiency.¶

(10) An employee who has refused a suitable offer of light duty or modified employment under ORS 659A.043(3)(a)(D) or 659A.046(3)(d) and who otherwise is entitled to OFLA leave under 659A.150 to 659A.186:¶

(a) Automatically commences a period of OFLA pregnancy disability leave upon refusing the offer of employment; and¶

(b) Need not give notice to the employer that would otherwise be required by this rule that the employee is commencing a period of leave.¶

(11) A covered employer may provide an OFLA leave request form. An example of a form that includes information for determining eligibility for OFLA leave as well as leave covered by OFLA and FMLA is attached to this rule.

OFLA: Medical Verification and Scheduling of Treatment ¶¶

(1) An employer may require an employee to provide medical verification of the need for OFLA leave, except that:¶¶

(a) An employer may not require medical verification for ~~parent~~child placement leave, for the death of a family member bereavement leave or for the need for sick child leave due to the closure of a child's school or child care provider as a result of a public health emergency.¶¶

(b) ~~If an employee has taken sick child leave on all or any part of three separate days during a leave year, the leave under ORS 653.601 to 653.661 concurrently with OFLA leave, an employer may only require~~Unless the employee has taken sick child leave on all or any part of three separate days during a leave year, the leave under ORS 653.601 to 653.661 concurrently with OFLA leave, an employer may only require medical verification from a health care provider on the fourth day or any subsequent use of sick child leave within that leave year or sick child leave only after the employee has taken more than three days of sick child leave during an OFLA leave year for a purpose other than to care for a child who requires home care due to the closure of the child's school or child care provider as a result of a public health emergency. The opinion of the health care provider is binding, and the employer may not require the employee to obtain a second opinion.¶¶

(2) All requests for medical verification must be in writing and must state the consequences for failure to provide the requested medical verification.¶¶

(3)~~(a) The employer must pay the cost of any requested medical verification not covered by insurance or another benefit plan, unless the . . .~~¶¶

(b) Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section, the costs of medical verification for pregnancy disability leave may be paid:¶¶

(A) From health and welfare fringe benefit moneys contributed entirely by the employer; or¶¶

(B) By the employee if the medical verification is a component of a medical examination or health certificate is required pursuant to a collective bargaining agreement, state or federal statute or city or county ordinance.¶¶

(4) When an employer ~~is requires eligible employees~~requires eligible employees to give advance written notice of foreseeable leave and an eligible employee gives such notice, the employer may also require the employee to provide medical verification of the need for OFLA leave before the leave starts.¶¶

(5) When an employee commences unforeseeable OFLA leave without prior notice, the employee must provide medical verification within 15 days of the employer's request for verification.¶¶

(6) If an employer determines that a medical verification provided by an employee is incomplete or insufficient, the employer must provide written notice that states the verification is incomplete or insufficient and the additional information needed to make it complete or sufficient and must afford the employee a reasonable period of time to correct the deficiency.¶¶

(7) When an employee fails to respond to reasonable employer requests for medical verification of the employee's eligibility for foreseeable leave to determine whether the leave is OFLA qualifying, the employer may deny use of OFLA leave until complete or sufficient medical verification is received.¶¶

(8) An employer may not delay the use of OFLA leave when medical verification is not received before the commencement of unforeseeable leave. The employer may designate the leave as provisionally approved, subject to medical verification.¶¶

(9) If an employee submits medical verification signed by a health care provider, the employer may not directly request additional information from the employee or family member's health care provider. However, with permission from the employee or family member, a health care provider representing the employer may contact the employee or family member's health care provider to clarify or authenticate the medical verification.¶¶

~~(10) An employer may not request subsequent medical verifications more often than every 30 days and then only in connection with the employee's absence except when:¶¶~~

~~(a) Circumstances described by the previous medical verification have changed significantly (e.g., the duration or frequency of absences, the severity of conditions, or complications); or¶¶~~

~~(b) The employer receives information that casts doubt upon the employee's stated reason for the absence.¶¶~~

~~(11) Upon request by the employee, the employer is required to provide the employee with a copy of any second and third medical opinions required under ORS 659A.168(1). Absent extenuating circumstances, the requested copies must be provided within five business days after the receipt of the employee's request.¶¶~~

~~(12) When possible, an employee must make a reasonable effort~~Except as provided in ORS 659A.171(4), an employer may not request medical verification for leave after the employee has qualified for that leave. An employer may not require an employee to obtain a second or to schedule medical treatment or supervision at times that will

OFLA: Job Protection ¶¶

- (1) An employer must restore an employee returning from OFLA leave, including intermittent and alternative duty leave, to the employee's former position if the job still exists, even if it has been filled during the employee's OFLA leave. The former position is the position held by the employee at the time OFLA leave began, regardless of whether the job has been renamed or reclassified. (For example, a delivery driver must be returned to the same route, at the same rate of pay and benefits, driving the same truck, delivering the same goods, on the same shift and working from the same location as when the driver started OFLA leave.)¶¶
- (2) Any worker hired during an eligible employee's leave to perform the same work that the eligible employee performed before the leave was taken is a replacement worker. When the eligible employee notifies the employer that the employee is ready to return to work, the employer must give that employee the opportunity to work any hours that the replacement worker would otherwise have been scheduled to work.¶¶
- (3) The employee is not entitled to return to the former position if the employee would have been bumped if OFLA leave had not been taken.¶¶
- (4) If the position held by the employee at the time OFLA leave began has in fact been eliminated and not merely renamed or reclassified, the employer must restore the employee to any available, equivalent position.¶¶
- (a) An available position is a position that is vacant or not permanently filled.¶¶
- (b) An equivalent position is a position that is the same as the former position in as many aspects as possible. If an equivalent position is not available at the employee's former job site, the employee may be restored to an equivalent position within 50 miles of the former job site.¶¶
- (5) Unless the terms of a collective bargaining agreement, other agreement or the employer's policy provide otherwise:¶¶
- (a) An employee on OFLA leave does not accrue seniority, production bonuses or other non-health-related benefits that would accrue while the employee is working;¶¶
- (b) Benefits an employee was entitled to prior to starting OFLA leave must be restored in full upon the employee's return to work. The benefits do not have to be restored, however, if such benefits have been eliminated or changed for similarly situated employees;¶¶
- (c) An employee has no greater right to a job or other employment benefits than if the employee had not taken OFLA leave; and¶¶
- (d) An employee is subject to layoff the same as similarly situated employees not taking OFLA leave.¶¶
- (6) During any OFLA leave, an employer must maintain the employee's coverage under any group health plan on the same conditions as coverage would have been provided if the employee had been continuously employed during the entire leave period.¶¶
- (a) An employer continuing health or other insurance coverage for an employee on OFLA leave may require that the employee pay only the same share of health or other insurance premium during the leave that the employee paid prior to the leave.¶¶
- (b) If an employee cannot or will not pay such costs, the employer may elect to discontinue benefit coverage, unless to do so would render the employer unable to restore the employee to full benefit coverage. If coverage lapses because an employee has not made required premium payments, upon the employee's return from OFLA leave the employer must still restore the employee to coverage/benefits equivalent to those the employee would have had if leave had not been taken and the premium payment(s) had not been missed, including family or dependent coverage. In such case, an employee may not be required to meet any qualification requirements imposed by the plan, including any new preexisting condition waiting period, to wait for an open season, or to pass a medical examination to obtain reinstatement of coverage. If an employer terminates an employee's insurance in accordance with this section and fails to restore the employee's health insurance as required by this section upon the employee's return, the employer may be liable for benefits lost by reason of the violation, for other actual monetary losses sustained as a direct result of the violation, and for appropriate equitable relief tailored to the harm suffered.¶¶
- (c) If the employer pays (directly or indirectly, voluntarily or as required by state or federal statute) any part of the employee's share of health or other insurance premium while an employee is on OFLA leave, the employer may deduct up to 10 percent of the employee's gross pay each pay period after the employee returns to work until the amount is repaid.¶¶
- (d) If an employee fails to return to work - unless the failure to return to work is because of a serious health condition for which the employee would be entitled to OFLA leave under ORS Chapter 657B or another circumstance beyond the employee's control - the employer may recover the employee's share of benefits paid by the employer. The employer may use any legal means to collect the amount owed for the employee's share of benefits paid by the employer, including deducting the amount from the employee's final paycheck.¶¶

(7) An employer may require an employee to follow the employer's established leave policy regarding periodic reporting to the employer of the employee's current status. ~~Before restoring the employee to work after taking OFLA leave for the employee's own serious health condition, the employer may require the employee to present verification from the employee's health care provider that the employee is able to resume work, provided such requirement is applied pursuant to a uniformly applied practice or policy of the employer that is also applied to employees that have not taken protected leave.~~¶¶

(8) Where required by ORS 659A.112 to 659A.139 and ORS 659A.146 to 659A.148 or other law, employers must consider reasonable accommodations in determining whether an employee is able to resume work.¶¶

~~(a) Any medical verification required under this section must be paid for by the covered employer.~~¶¶

~~(b) The employer may not require the employee to obtain a second opinion.~~¶¶

~~(82)~~(a) If an employee gives unequivocal notice of intent not to return to work from OFLA leave:¶¶

(b) The employee is entitled to complete the approved OFLA leave, providing that the original need for OFLA leave still exists. The employee remains entitled to all the rights and protections under OFLA, including but not limited to, the use of vacation, sick leave and health benefits pursuant to OAR 839-009-0270 and 839-009-0280, except that:¶¶

(A) The employer's obligations under OFLA to restore the employee's position and to restore benefits upon the completion of leave cease, except as required by federal COBRA law, 29 USC 1161 et seq.; and¶¶

(B) The employer is not required to hold a position vacant or available for the employee who gives unequivocal notice of intent not to return.¶¶

(1) Except as provided in this rule or the terms of a collective bargaining agreement, an agreement between the eligible employee and the covered employer, or an employer policy, OFLA leave is not required to be granted with pay.¶

(2) An employee eligible to take OFLA leave is entitled to use accrued paid sick leave, personal leave, vacation leave or any other paid leave that is offered in lieu of sick or vacation leave, during the period of OFLA leave. As used in this rule, accrued paid sick leave does not include disability insurance ~~or, disability benefits.~~¶

~~(3) An employer may require an employee to use accrued paid leave during OFLA leave that would otherwise be unpaid, and may determine the order in which paid leave is to be used if to do so is consistent with a collective bargaining agreement or other written agreement between the eligible employee and the covered employer or an employer policy. The employer may exercise these prerogatives only if:¶~~

~~(a) Prior to the commencement of OFLA leave, the employer provides written notice to the employee that accrued paid leave is to be used during OFLA leave; or¶~~

~~(b) The teacher's return to work would occur within three weeks of the end of the term.¶¶~~

~~(6) If a teacher takes OFLA leave to the end of the school year and continues the leave at the beginning of the next school term, the leave is consecutive rather than intermittent leave.¶¶~~

~~(a) The period between the end of the school term and the beginning of the next school term, when a teacher would not have been required to report for duty, is not counted against the teacher's OFLA leave entitlement.¶¶~~

~~(b) A teacher on OFLA leave at the end of the school term must be provided with the same benefits during the period between school terms that the teacher would normally receive if no OFLA leave were taken.¶¶~~

~~(7) Full-time employees covered by this rule, and who have been maintained on the payroll by a school district during 180 consecutive calendar days, are thereafter deemed to have been employed by that school district for an average of at least 25 hours per week during the 180 days immediately preceding the date any OFLA leave begins.¶¶~~

~~(8) If a teacher is required by the employer to remain on leave to the end of the academic term, only the period of leave the teacher requested can be charged against the teacher's OFLA leave entitlement.¶¶~~
