

Oregon Kids Credit

Are you eligible to claim money for your family?

If you have $30,000 or less in income, you can get up to $1000 per child for up to five kids five years old or younger.

Learn more.

You may also qualify for additional tax credits.

In addition to the new Oregon Kids Credit, the state and the Internal Revenue Service offer many tax credits for low- to moderate-income families. These credits are fully or partially refundable, so the portion of the credit that is more than what you owe can be refunded to you. Even people who don't owe any tax can claim these credits if they file a return.

Federal Earned Income Tax Credit

The Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) is a federal credit that helps low- to moderate-income workers get a tax benefit. If you qualify, you can use the credit to reduce the taxes you owe – and maybe increase your refund.

Oregon Earned Income Credit

If you qualify for the federal EITC you can also claim the Oregon earned income credit (EIC). If you have a dependent who is younger than 3 at the end of the tax year, your Oregon EIC is 12 percent of your federal EITC; otherwise, your EIC is 9 percent of your federal EITC. Starting with tax year 2022, you can now claim the Oregon EIC using individual taxpayer identification numbers (ITINs).

Working Family Household and Dependent Care Credit

The working family household and dependent care credit (WFHDC) is a tax credit that helps low- to moderate-income families pay for the care of their dependents while they're working, looking for work, or attending school.

For more information about these credits, scan the QR code on the other side.