

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE CONFERENCE

TRAINING ANNOUNCEMENT and REGISTRATION FORM

“Boot Camp VI”

The OREGON DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE’s DOMESTIC VIOLENCE RESOURCE PROSECUTOR program is offering a fantastic DV conference for PROSECUTORS. This conference will focus on developing and honing trial advocacy skills through lecture, group discussion, and intense participation by attendees. The training will also focus on best practices in other areas of DV prosecution, such as improving DV investigations, developing expertise around Stalking cases and use of technology by perpetrators, increasing our awareness of victims’ economic insecurity, and receiving updates on current Oregon domestic violence case law.

- Who Should Attend: Oregon and Tribal Prosecutors who handle DV cases. The training is appropriate for ALL levels of prosecution experience
- When: November 4-6, 2015
- Where: Criminal Justice Division , Salem, Oregon
- Faculty/Presenters: Veteran prosecutors, law enforcement officers, and other victim resource providers from around Oregon
- COST: REGISTRATION IS FREE. Attendees will be responsible for covering expenses (excluding lodging which will be paid by DOJ) up-front.
- Attendees living more than 50 miles (one-way) from the conference facility will be reimbursed for expenses. Details about reimbursement will be included in the Conference Confirmation Letter upon receipt of a completed registration form.

There are 30 seats available at this conference. In an effort to facilitate attendance by as many counties and tribal nations as possible, the application process will only accept the first TWO applications from any one jurisdiction. If there are additional seats available after the initial application process has been completed, additional attendees from already attending jurisdictions may be admitted. A waiting list will be maintained for those jurisdictions wishing to send more than two attendees. Priority may be also be given to those prosecutors attending “Boot Camp” for the first time.

CLE credit will be requested from the Oregon State Bar for this conference.

To Register: Fill out the attached application COMPLETELY and either email it to Michelle Long at Michelle.N.Long@doj.state.or.us OR fax it, Attention: Michelle Long: 503-373-1936.
