Join the National Center for Fatality Review and Prevention for a webinar to learn how to better support and assist families after an infant loss, featuring the voice of a family affected by loss and an experienced FIMR site describing the value of interviews for understanding and acting on community issues related to fetal and infant mortality.

Speaker Biographies

Welcome and Opening Remarks

Mary Emanuele, USPHS, RN, BAN, CNOR, CCHP

Commander (CDR) Mary Emanuele is a registered nurse with an extensive experience in peri-operative, post anesthesia care, women's health nursing, medical surgical, oncology and biotherapy and immunotherapy. Mary Emanuele served as a Commissioned Officer in the United States Navy from 2002-2008. In 2016, CDR Mary Emanuele transferred to the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) in her current position as a Program Management Officer in the Maternal and Child Health Bureaus, Division of Healthy Start and Perinatal Services where she provides programmatic guidance to grantees under the Federal Healthy Start Program. Her responsibilities include assisting grantees with technical oversight and monitoring programmatic progress to reduce infant mortality in vulnerable populations. Mary serves alongside of CDR Sony Fermin as the backup FIMR project officer for the Center's Cooperative agreement.

Guest Speakers

Megan Williams, Jameson's Mother

In 2012, Megan Williams experienced the tragic death of her son, Jameson. Megan has been a frequent speaker and advocate for mothers and families who have experienced a loss, and has participated in the Walk to Remember, a national event dedicated to babies who die each year through miscarriage, ectopic pregnancy, stillbirth or newborn death. Megan and her 3 ½ year old daughter, Briley, now live in Indiana.

Teri Conard, MS, BSN, RN

Teri Conard is the FIMR Coordinator for the Marion County Public Health Department, Indianapolis, IN. Teri has extensive clinical pediatric experience in both the hospital and in urban public health. She has sixteen years of experience as a FIMR Coordinator. Teri graduated from a nursing diploma program, obtained her bachelor's in nursing from Indiana University and her masters in Community Health from Indiana Wesleyan University. In her free time, she enjoys reading and biking. Currently she has a staff of three FIMR Nurses who she describes as "committed to interviewing parents."
