

OPHA Health Education & Promotion Section

National Public Health Week Scholarship Request

For a second year the Oregon Public Health Association (OPHA) Health Education & Promotion (HEP) Section is offering scholarships for National Public Health Week (NPHW) to health education and/or public health student groups at Oregon schools and universities to conduct educational outreach and activities relating to NPHW. These scholarships provide opportunities for students of health education and public health to conduct original and needed outreach and education activities within their defined community. These activities will relate to the NPHW themes for 2017: <http://www.nphw.org>. This scholarship is open to Oregon school and university health education and/or public health groups and will reimburse outreach and education activities conducted by these groups during NPHW.
