

SAVE THE DATE

Place Matters 2016 Conference

October 4–6, 2016

Through inspirational speakers and workshops, the biannual Place Matters Conference allows people from diverse fields to gain new skills, tools and connections to help address the leading preventable causes of death: tobacco, obesity, poor nutrition and physical inactivity. Sustained effort on these issues will be critical to reducing Oregon's large human and financial burden of chronic diseases, including heart disease, diabetes and cancer.

Date and time:

Noon, Tuesday, October 4, 2016 through
Noon, Thursday, October 6, 2016

Location:

Oregon Convention Center, 777 NE Martin
Luther King Jr. Blvd, Portland, OR 97232

Together, we can create more places where the default choices are healthy, where unhealthy choices are rare, and where all Oregonians can take charge of their health. The goal is:

“All people in Oregon live, work, play and learn in communities that support health and optimal quality of life.”

Save the date now, and watch for website registration soon!

For more information:

971-673-0984 or

placematters.conference@state.or.us

Place Matters is successful when diverse participants share ideas. Place Matters is right for:

- Public health practitioners;
- Worksite wellness coordinators;
- Mental health, alcohol and other drug addiction treatment providers;
- Health care providers and administrators;
- Transportation and land use planners;
- Educators; and
- Social justice advocates and community members.

0HA 8848 (5/2016)