Publicly Accessible Video Conferencing Sites
At Oregon Public, Law, and Academic Libraries (and beyond)
Updated Tuesday, July 07, 2009

Suggested Referrals/Contacts/Ideas:

1) Eastern Oregon U. library: has equipment connecting libraries throughout eastern Oregon. Participants could possibly go to their local library (per Federal Programs Coordinator, Library Development Services, Oregon State Library, 250 Winter St. NE, Salem, OR 97305, phone 503-378-5027, fax 503-378-6439, www.oregon.gov/OSL/LD)

2) Lincoln City: A couple of video conferencing options available. The court has extended access in the past to local attorneys who need video access for various things. As long as the need was associated with their duties as an attorney. (per Lincoln Co. Law Library, Lincoln County Law Library, 225 West Olive Street, Newport, OR 97365, Phone: (541) 265-4236 ext. 264)

3) Baker, Haines, Halfway: Has videoconference units at public library branches in Baker, Haines, and Halfway. They are available for public use by reservation & at no charge. The units were provided by Libraries of Eastern Oregon (LEO), which got a grant to supply over a dozen units to libraries in rural areas. LEO Director, Lyn Craig, who may be able to provide a full directory. (per Perry Stokes, Director, Baker County Library District, 2400 Resort St. , Baker City, OR 97814, 541.523.6419)

4) Oregon Community College Library Association (http://occla.pbworks.com/)

5) Oregon Access Network: http://www.ode.state.or.us/initiatives/oraccessnet/networksites.aspx

6) OSU Hatfield Marine Science Center (Newport) - meeting rooms and a polycom unit: http://hmsc.oregonstate.edu/meetingrooms.html

7) Chemeketa Community College may have facilities. Capital Community TV in Salem may be doing this in the future. Check with other local public-access community TV facilities.

8) Klamath County Library has a video conference facility. For information on availability for other than educational programs, contact Heidi Nowak hnowak@co.klamath.or.us.

9) Crook County: County public library, can do real time videoconferencing for anywhere from one-on-one up to a room with 120 people looking at a projected image of the other end of the conference. This can be done on computer, television, plasma screens, and images through a projector.
