

Presented by American Indian Library Association

TALK STORY GRANT

ABOUT TALK STORY

Talk Story: Sharing Stories, Sharing Culture is a family literacy program jointly organized by the American Indian Library Association (AILA) and Asian Pacific American Librarians Association (APALA). Talk Story brings together American Indian and Alaska Native (AIAN) and Asian American, Native Hawaiian, Pacific Islander (AANHPI) families and their intergenerational communities. Talk Story celebrates and affirms these cultures and their intersections through books, oral traditions, art, and other activities, creating interactive and enriching experiences.

APPLY NOW

apalaweb.org/talkstorytogether/grant

Award

$800

Funds to spotlight AIAN or AANHPI stories through programs, services, and collections.

Eligibility

Libraries and community organizations serving AIAN or AANHPI children and families.

Except for cross-border tribal organizations, applicants must be based in the U.S. or U.S. territories.

Deadline

March 15, 2026

LEARN MORE

Contact

Asian Pacific American Librarians Association: familyliteracy@apalaweb.org

American Indian Library Association: ailanet.org/contact