We are pleased to announce that the OJD/SFLAC Family Law Conference is back after a long hiatus. Over the past decade, changes within Oregon courts and Oregon families have transformed family law practice. This conference showcases the hard work and creativity of judges, practitioners, advocates, and administrators involved in family law and the positive developments in this important practice area despite many challenges. New programs, new technologies, and expanded court access to families are all part of the future of family law. Come learn with us!

We anticipate 200 participants comprised of juvenile and family law practitioners, mediators, judges, family law facilitators, therapists, court administrators and other staff.

We are currently accepting proposals for WORKSHOP SESSIONS (90 minutes). If you are interested in presenting a workshop, either alone or with others, please complete and submit the required abstract information as outlined to the left.
