We are hosting state GIOs, NSGIC state representatives, and state GIS council representatives to explore models for state GIS coordination, collaboration, and cooperation.

During this interactive session, participants will identify successes, challenges, and opportunities for strengthening council relationships and coordination activities. This forum will be the first in an ongoing series to support collaboration efforts at the state level by learning from colleagues across the country.

This is a great opportunity to bring together state geospatial coordinating representatives to develop strategies for effective collaboration and GIS community engagement.

This program will be moderated by Jenna Leveille, Arizona Deputy State Cartographer, and Megan Compton, Indiana Geographic Information Officer
