

Will There Be a THERE, There?

A Conversation about Preservation, Design, Development and Saving our Unique Sense of Place...

DON'T MISS this rare appearance
by STEVEN W. SEMES, internationally noted architect, author and critic of architectural design and urban planning.

What should Portland look like in 2035? In our race for sustainability and development, will we lose historic character and a human scale? Is Modernist the only legitimate “architecture of our time?”

Join us for a thought-provoking talk by Steven Semes, author of The Future of the Past: A Conservation Ethic for Architecture, Urbanism, and Historic Preservation. Semes is a proponent of the classical language of architecture and the compatibility of new architecture in historic settings.

Our program includes a panel discussion with notable members of the Portland development, planning, and preservation communities.

Sunday, March 11th @ 3:00pm

UO/White Stag Building
70 NW Couch Street
Portland, OR 97209

Tickets Available Online:

HistoricPreservationLeague.org

or call 503 243-1923

$20 General Public

$15 Members* $8 Students

* Historic Preservation League of Oregon, Architectural Heritage Center, Congress for the New Urbanism-Cascadia, NW STG, and INTBAU-USA

HISTORIC PRESERVATION LEAGUE • OF OREGON

sponsored by:

VENERABLE