"The way I see it, The Port Orford Main Street Association is like a master gardener quietly cultivating the community soil, planting seeds of prosperity, fertilizing heirloom treasures. Season by season our Main Street garden is becoming more attractive. One such treasured heirloom is Jack Champayne's whale mural on the side of the old dental building, which was in a dire state of disrepair. Main Street was able to hire one of Port Orford's favorite daughters, Dune Fougerolles, a multitalented young artist to restore the mural on her summer vacation from college. The building having been vacant and dreary for years, is now fresh with new business and a beautifully restored Champayne mural. One of several POMSRA stories being cultivated with your support." Elaine Roemen, POMSRA Board Member 2019
