2008 Conference

Sen. Debbie Stabenow addresses the participants via video

Dear Telehealth Supporter,

Please save the date for the 7th Annual Telehealth Leadership Conference (TLC) in Washington, D.C. June 2-3, 2009. The TLC is a great opportunity for telehealth advocates to interact with experts in telehealth, public policy, and health information technology.

During this two-day conference, TLC attendees will learn about the most current government and regulatory news impacting the telehealth community. Attendees will also have the chance to meet and discuss issues relating to telehealth with officials from executive branch agencies. And finally, TLC attendees will receive advocacy training from TLI professional staff, who will prepare them to meet with legislators and their staff on Capitol Hill and with executive branch officials.

Telehealth champion, Senator Deborah Stabenow was one of several key people who spoke at the 2008 TLC. At the 2008 TLC, attendees met with officials from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services and the Federal Communications Commission.

Sam Burgiss, PhD presents the Gustke Memorial Lecture

Information about how you can register to attend the TLC will be available shortly. The enthusiasm of the 2008 participants and the message they took to their elected officials in Congress was a major factor in the success of the 2008 telehealth policy agenda. We hope that you will join us in Washington D.C. in 2009!
